

Clanking Chains: Lucifer's Faculty: The Frankfurt School; Birth of Cultural Marxism: Assault against the Four Divine Institutions: Volition

- 3- These men and their associates are the architects of what has come to be known as cultural Marxism. Frustrated by the failure of economic Marxism in Russia, several of these men came together to found the Frankfurt School at Frankfurt University in Frankfurt, Germany.
- 4- They concluded the reason economic Marxism didn't work either in Russia or in Europe was because when the revolutions began, the workers rather than uniting against the establishment joined the military to protect their respective homelands.
- 5- An excellent analysis of the events that led to the establishment of the Frankfurt School is provided by:

Buchanan, Patrick J. "Four Who Made a Revolution." Chapter 4 in The Death of the West. (New York: St. Martin's Press, 2002), 73-75:

On August 4, 1914, the Social Democrats stood in the Reichstag [the German Parliament] and, to a man, voted the kaiser's war credits, joining the orgy of patriotism as the armies of the Reich smashed in Belgium. Marxists were stunned. They had confidently predicted that when war came, the workers would rise up and rebel against their rulers rather than fight fellow workers of neighboring nations. But it had not happened.

As the horrors of the western front unfolded, they waited. But even the Battles of Ypres [è' per] and Passchendaele [pas' en-dah' lay] [in Belgium], and the Somme [in France], where hundred of thousands of British soldiers went to their death over a few yards of mud, did not cause the workers to rise up in the homeland of the Industrial Revolution. Neither the French nor the German working class broke at Verdun.

After the Russian Revolution, Communist coups were attempted in Budapest, Munich, and Berlin. But the workers failed to rally to the revolutions launched in their name.

Nothing the Marxists had predicted had come to pass. Their hour had come and gone. The workers of the West, the mythical proletariat, had refused to play the role history had assigned them. How could Marx have been so wrong?

Two of Marx's disciples now advanced an explanation. Marx had been wrong. Capitalism was not impoverishing the workers. They had not risen in revolution because their souls had been saturated in two thousand years of Christianity, which blinded them to their true class interests. Unless and until Christianity and Western culture, the immune system of capitalism, were uprooted from the soul of Western Man, Marxism could not take root, and the revolution would be betrayed by the workers in whose name it was to be fought. Waging everything on the working class, the Marxists had bet on the wrong horse.

The first dissenting disciple was the Hungarian Georg Lukács [Luk' ach], whose History and Class Consciousness had brought him recognition as a Marxist theorist to rival Marx himself. "I saw the revolutionary destruction of society as the one and only solution," said Lukács. "A worldwide overturning of values cannot take place without the annihilation of the old values and the creation of new ones by the revolutionaries." Lukács put his ideas into action in what came to be known as "cultural terrorism."

As part of this terrorism he instituted a radical sex education program in Hungarian schools. Children were instructed in free love, sexual intercourse, the archaic nature of middle-class family codes, the outdatedness of monogamy, and the irrelevance of religion, which deprives man of all pleasures. Women, too, were called to rebel against the sexual mores of the time.

Lukács's purpose in promoting licentiousness among women and children was to destroy the family, the core institution of Christianity and Western culture.

- 6- It is through the influence of Lukács that we get our first clue that the philosophical movement toward cultural terrorism got its motivation from demon influence at best and demon possession at worst.
- 7- Scripture confirms that the key to the perpetuation of a client nation is its adherence to, protection of, and respect for the four divine institutions. When the people of a client nation are induced to rebel against these institutions then it enters into a gradual decline that left unchecked results in the fifth cycle of discipline.
- 8- The divine institutions are defined as follows:

Thieme, R. B., Jr. Freedom through Military Victory. 3d ed. (Houston: R. B. Thieme, Jr., Bible Ministries, 1996), 82:

Divine institutions. Four founding principles for all mankind ordained by God and governed by the laws of divine establishment for the perpetuation, stability, protection, and freedom of the human race: 1. the individual; 2. marriage; 3. family; 4. the national entity. Each institution is regulated by a corresponding authority: 1. volition; 2. husband; 3. parents; 4. government.

- 1) Volition: God created man with a soul and one of its attributes is free will. Man is therefore expected to think, decide, and act rationally based on establishment viewpoint for all mankind and, in addition, divine viewpoint for all believers. God's desire is that with free will man will come to know Him, enter His plan, and serve him willingly.

It is Lucifer's desire to inhibit human volition and the major weapons he employs are duplicity and deceit. Once man has been distracted from making choices for the plan of God then he is easily solicited into making choices for the plan of Satan. Biblical documentation of the satanic assault against human volition includes the following passages:

2 Thessalonians 2:9 - The appearance of the lawless one shall be according to the modus operandi of Satan with all power and by means of miracles, even wonder miracles of the lie.

v. 10 - And by means of all deception of unrighteousness to those who are being led astray, deprived, ruined, destroyed because they have not received the love of the truth that they might be saved.

Genesis 3:1 - Now the serpent was more crafty than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said to the woman, "Indeed, has God said, 'You shall not eat from any tree of the garden'?"

v. 4 - And the serpent said to the woman, "You surely shall not die!

v. 5 - "For God knows that in the day you eat from it your eyes will be opened and you will be like God, knowing good and evil."

1 Kings 18:21 -Elijah came near to all the people and said, "How long will you hesitate between two opinions? If the Lord is God, follow Him. But if Baal follow him." But the people did not answer him a word.

1 Timothy 4:1 -The Holy Spirit explicitly says that in later times some will fall away from the faith, paying attention to deceitful spirits [demon influence] and doctrines of demons [principles of the dark side of morality], v. 2 - by means of hypocrisy of liars seared in their own conscience as with a branding iron [locked-in arrogance].

Hosea 4:6 - My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Because you have rejected knowledge [negative volition] I also will reject you from being My priest [client nation].

Volition is what resolves the angelic conflict. It is the divine law that holds every human being accountable for his decisions and actions before the Supreme Court of Heaven.
