

VI. Laws of Divine Establishment and the Royal Family Honor Code: Review

Pate, James I. "No Longer Untouchable." The American Spectator. Aug. 1993, p. 35.

Francis, Samuel. "When the Law Breaks in." The Washington Times. 3-9 April 1995, p. 30.

All of this sounds like an Oliver Stone movie, but it's not. How does all this tie in to Waco? Note this interesting observation by:

Wattenberg, Daniel. "Gunning for Koresh." The American Spectator. Aug. 1993, pp. 38-39.

With all this in mind we must wonder why the Clinton Administration and the media have been so earnestly seeking to present citizen militias as gun-crazed, reactionary, "right-wing radical" organizations since Waco.

As it turned out the public started to ask some very penetrating question about Waco and the FBI and BATF were losing out in the public relations front as well as facing the prospect of decreased funding by a Republican Congress.

Gun control was about to take a hit as the Republican "Contract with America" promised to rescind Clinton's crime bill which banned several so-called "assault" weapons. Whether they fell into a gold mine at Oklahoma City or simply goaded hate-mongers into action, you can bet the gun control lobby, the Clinton Administration, and the proponents of ever-broadening power for federal police agencies, such as the FBI, BATF, DEA, and INS, are overjoyed even though they publicly cry crocodile tears.

Here's some interesting information on State Militias and how they have been targeted for demonization by the Clinton Administration and the mainline media.

Jasper, William F. "The Rise of Citizen Militias." The New American. 6 February 1995, pp. 4-8, 23-29.

Totalitarian governments are known for using the "scissor effect" to intensify and solidify their power and control over the population.

Pressure must first come from below and that may be invented or incited, e.g., The Branch Davidian compound at Waco. Trumped up charges of weapons violations and child abuse were used as justification for the incineration of the entire complex. The final conflagration was made necessary because it became obvious that the enabling warrant was first of all never properly served and had flaws which meant it could not have stood up in court. Even more importantly, none of the charges brought forward were a matter of federal concern but strictly under the jurisdiction of the State of Texas. Survivors, and there were only six, were brought to trial found innocent of any of the charges alleged by the government. Then Janet Reno filed federal civil rights charges and achieved a conviction. They are now in jail and the news media is prohibited from interviewing them. Their testimony has thus been successfully silenced.

This alleged threat was used to bring government pressure from above.

Since Waco, the Clinton Administration along with the mainline media, have begun a campaign to associate some act of violence—any act of violence—with the many paramilitary types across the country.

One or more persons at least loosely associated with the Michigan Militia finally became the necessary counter- pressure from below when they blasted the Federal Building in Oklahoma City.

The next pressure from above will be an Administration-led and a media-conducted campaign to further restrict our Second Amendment freedom to keep and bear arms, and to broaden the powers of the FBI and BATF. Just wait and see.

The thing which is always crushed in this “scissor effect” is individual freedoms.

That, in my view, explains what is going on here. I believe it to be the playing out of the ongoing Satanic conspiracy designed to destroy this client nation.

Now that you know what is going on, you need not worry about it. It’s all classified as outside adversity which you are not to permit inside as internal stress. We, without discontent or argumentation, must continue the cultivation of our souls to the ultimate conclusion that we will harvest our own deliverance from danger and our own preservation from persecution.

We will do this with the following purpose as our motivation:

Philippians 2:15 - In order that we might become blameless, even undiluted by evil, students under the discipline and authority of God, not a disgrace to society, in the midst of a crooked, perverted and contorted Zeitgeist within which we keep shining as light-giving bodies in the Devil’s world.

Our only offensive weapon is the Gospel of Jesus Christ. We are commissioned by God and granted by Him the plenipotentiary power to wield its influence in the Devil’s world.

We are not to worry about governmental tyrants from above or radical anarchists from below. Both must be evangelized and brought to a renovation of thought regarding the Laws of Divine Establishment and Bible Doctrine before the threats to freedom from either can be defeated.

Ephesians 6:17 - Take up the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God.

Review continued at this point, picking up at point 32 and continuing through paragraph K. Paul’s Mandate to Influence the Zeitgeist, ending at katergazomai, 02-12-95B CWL066.
